

The data flow diagram below illustrates a possible process for determining whether a patient has a certain disease or not

